Ms. O'Connor,

My name is Hugo and I am writing this letter as a personal reference for Mrs. Michele and Mr. Roberto. I have had the pleasure of being able to count on Roberto as my best friend since 1988, and Godfather to my son since 2013. From the moment we met up until now he displays caretaker and selfless qualities. Time and time again in moments of need he has always been there for me and others who are lucky to have him as a friend. Through our friendship I was introduced to Michele in 2005, who's been a caring and loving person since the day we met and I also have the pleasure of counting on her as my friend.

Both Michele and Roberto are caring, loving, and hardworking people that I believe are examples of what parents should be. They possess the qualities that parents need to have to raise children in today's challenging times. In the six plus years that I've seen them parent their son Nathaniel I've witnessed the love, dedication and patience required to be a good parent. My wife and I look at them as role models in parenting as we raise our five year old son.

I wholeheartedly support my dear friends in their commitment to adopt a child as their own. They would welcome them into their home with unconditional love and provide all that they have to ensure the child is loved, cared for and safe

Sincerely,

Hugo
